

GLOBAL MEDIA JOURNAL – Indian Edition
Sponsored by the University of Calcutta

WINTER ISSUE/ DECEMBER 2010

Theme: Right to Information: New Frontiers of Democracy

EDITORIAL

The GMJ-Indian Edition in this particular issue deals, as declared earlier, with detailed accounts on the right to information act its significance, particularly in Indian sociocultural context. Doubtless is the importance of such accounts which would definitely be of a great help to not only the students pursuing this field but the researchers also, who often look for the necessary accumulation of major arguments on every issue in a journal.

It is therefore an impending need to have such an issue in Global Media Journal- Indian Edition that would really serve interests of all concerned.

RTI is such an outcome of contemporary global cultural proceedings that devours all earlier boundaries to usher a true pro-people information based society.

This edition of Global Media Journal-Indian Edition recognizes the new democratic functioning of information processing and information dissemination that ushers an era of new governance and public interaction.

We are thankful to Mr. Rajesh Das (Assistant Professor, Department of Mass Communication, University of Burdwan; E mail: rajesh.das.cal@gmail.com, rajeshdas2009@hotmail.com), Mr. Santwan Chattopadhyay (Assistant Professor and Coordinator, P G Diploma in Mass Communication, Department of Adult, Continuing Education and Extension, Jadavpur University; Email: santwanchattopadhyay@yahoo.com, schat1974@gmail.com) and Mr. Abir Chattopadhyay (Assistant Professor, Department of Journalism & Mass Communication, Seth Anandram Jaipuria College, Affiliated to University of Calcutta;Email: abmo2020@yahoo.co.in) for their help and cooperation with exemplary sincerity. It would have been much difficult for us to complete the work without their participation.

GUEST EDITORS OF THE ISSUE:

Prof. Biplab Chakrabarti

Email: snbmc@caluniv.ac.in , bcliscu@gmail.com ,

Dr. Soumitra Sarkar

Email: univlibrarian@caluniv.ac.in