

Department of Comparative Indian Language and Literature

University of Calcutta

organises

A Workshop on Research Methodology in Comparative Literary Studies

2-7 March 2020

Call for Participation

Interested MPhil and PhD researchers of any literature department, with working Knowledge in Bengali and English candidates may send their application alongwith an updated CV and their respective research proposals to cill.cu2005@gmail.com by 15th February 2020. Please send your Research Proposals and CVs as attached files with a covering letter in the body of the mail with the subject: “Application For Research Methodology Workshop 2020”. Selected candidates will be communicated through email by 20th February.

Candidates are expected to present their research proposal in the workshop. We encourage the participants to build academic dialogues with their colleagues in the workshop for the benefit of all. Classes will commence from 11:30-5:30pm everyday. Organisers will provide tea and snacks twice in a day, along with welcome snacks and valedictory lunch. Workshop kits will be provided to all the participants. Please note that there is no registration fee for participation. Tentative list of entire classes, course-curriculum will be sent to the selected participants in due time. Please note that the organisers are not in a position to offer any TA/Accommodation to the participants.

Dr Mrinmoy Pramanick

Head

Department of Comparative Indian Language and Literature

University of Calcutta